We do not believe there will be war, but if the administration falled to exercise all of its powers in the matter of preparation it would be open to severe criticism if hostilities actually ensue."

News from the Cruiser.

News reached the navy department this afternoon that the cruiser San Francisco had arrived at San Diego, Cal., and was at anchor in the harbor. It was rumored that she would await the Charleston at that place and transfer to the latter vessel certain munitions of war, which she carried from San Francisco.

HUMPHREY IS HARASSED

By Politicians Working for Appointment as

KATSAS CITY, Mo., December 28 .- A special to The Star from Topeka, Kan., says delegations are arriving daily to urge the claims of the different candidates for the appointment to succeed the late Senator Plumb. Governor Humphrey has been importuned and harassed so persistently that he is about losing patience. This is indicated by a remark made in reply to a question as to when he will appoint a senator. He said:

"I want it understood that I am the one who will name the United States senator. I don't think I can make the appointment before the end of the week. I shall attend to the regular business of my office and consider the claims of the various candidates as I reach them."

The fight so far is between Simpson, Hudson and Ferkins, but it is difficult to tell who has got the best of it, as Governor Humphrey is as dumb & an oyster.

Presenting Their Claims.

The claims of J. W. Ady, United States district attorney for the district of Kansas, were first presented to the governor. Ex-Congressman S. R. Feters, of Newton, Kas., backed by the entire terenth congressional district, made a presentation. He occupied the governor's time from 2 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

ON THE MEXICAN BORDER.

Secretary Grant Says the Situation Is Growing Serious. Washington, December 28.—Acting Secretary Grant today said that he regarded the situation on the Mexican frontier as serious, and that the war department was exerting itself to prevent further violations of the neu trality laws by Garza's band of revolutionists.

If necessary to prevent these men from crossing backwards and forwards between Mexico and the United States, the entire military force under General Stanley's command will be distributed along the north bank of the Rio Grande. The United States marshal also has unlimited powers in the matter of augmenting his posse and will co-operate fully with the military authorities in the effort to arrest the disturbers of the peace of Mexico. It is within his discretion to employ the Texan rangers in this capacity, and as this force of armed and mounted police is well acquainted with the country and habits of the Mexicans along the borders, Assistant Secretary Grant said the marshal will doubtless avail himself of their services.

It is believed at the war department that Garza's movement is galning in strength, notwithstanding the efforts of the United States and Mexican troops to restrain it. tary force under General Stanley's command

WILL JOIN GARZA.

An Armed Body of Men Camped Near Tampaquez, Mexico.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., December 28.—It is reported that a party of armed men are camped near Tampaquez ranche on the dividing line of Cameron and Hidelys counties. They are under command of Francis Anedando, a deserter from the Mexican army, and it is supposed they intend joining the Garza outlaws. Alamo, the Mexican who committed murders on Padre island, Tex., and who was arrested by the Mexican authorities and was being held pending the issue of extradition papers, escaped with five others from Matamoras jail last night and crossed the river to Texas to join Anedando's band. Garza's men are reported to be hiding in a chapparal. department of state at noon. He was immediately shown into Secretary Blaine's private office and had an interview with the secretary lasting half an hour. It was impossible to get more than a hint of what passed between the secretary and the uninister during the interview, but that is probably sufficient to warrant the supposition that matters are not proceeding in a manner as satisfactory to the government of the United States as could be desired. Notwithstanding the fact that Secretary Blaine is now dealing almost entirely directly with the Chilean minister, instead of with his government through the intervention of Minister Egan, it does not appear that the result has been a saving of time, and there is reason to suspect

DEATH OF JUDGE JACOB DAVIS. An Old Georgian Dies of Paralysis in Washington. WASHINGTON, December 28—Judge Jacob R. Davis, died on Sunday at his home, 17 K street, northeast, in the eighty-second year of his age. The cause of his death was paralysis. He had been living in Washington since the close of the war, when he moved here from Georgia. Judge Davis published The Signal at Dahlonega before the war, and was also superintendent of the Dahlonega mint, being appointed to the position by President Pierce. Judge Davis was the first sec-retary of the grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons in Georgia.

They boarded the train at Buda station and their first act was to force a Chicago drummer off the moving train because he wore a red cravat and a high silk hat. They then continued their depredations by making a number of young ladies in the Pullman car sing for them. They enforced all their demands with drawn pistols. They ruled the train for twenty miles, when they stepped off at a way station.

Then it was said that New Orleans estimated receipts there tomorrow at 28,000 to 30,000 bales and the early advance was soon lost.

Calls for additional margins were not responded to in many cases and led to continued selling which forced a further decline and brought in "stop orders," under which January sold down to 7.34 cents, or more than 2 cents below, the highest figure in October. An active business was done in exchanging the early for the late months and 8.5 cent points were paid between January and July. The depression in January was said to be due largely to the expiring of certificates and necessity of reinspection at some expense. Port receipts for the current week were estimated at 230,000 bales. Spot cotton was 3-16 cents lower.

These two, with Prince Henry, of Battenberg, and Prince Albert, of Schleswig-Holstein, were bird shooting on the Isle of Wight the day before Christmas, when Connaught fired at a covey that rose between himself and his brother-inlaw, and three shot struck the latter in the face. Battenberg and Prince Christian are two of Queen Victoria's sons in-law and the duke of Connaught is her son.

SLAYING OF THE SIMITES. Neal Sims Says He Will Avenge the Killing of Bob.

MOBILE, Ala., December 28.—Terrible scenes are being enacted in Choctaw county. The citizens are wrought to such a pitch of excitement that a war of extermination is being waged against the Simites. Since Christmas two more of the deluded people have been hoisted to death at the rope's end.

to death at the rope's end.

A special to The Register from Shubuta this morning tells of the lynching, on Saturday night, of John Sims, brother of Bob Sims, and of Mosely Sims, Bob's nephew. According to the last report received the crowd was in full pursuit of a negro who is reported to have taken part in the McMillan massacre of December 23d. When caught he will be strung up. Will Avenge His Brother's Death.

Will Avenge His Brother's Death.

A most alarming thing about the situation is that Neal Sims, brother of Bob, and who rescued Bob from the deputy marshal at Bladon Springs, Choctaw county, in August last, is still at large and determined to avenge Bob's death. Neal is a desperate man. He firmly believes that his brother was a prophet from God and had divine sanction to kill off the devil's agents, namely officers of the law. A special dispatch to The Register says that Neal Sims has collected forty of the Simites and sent word Sunday that he intended to assault and burn 'the village of Womack Hill before the night of that day. The people are greatly excited and all of Sunday were massing at Womack Hill to defend the place.

The enraged people on Saturday morning after the lynching of Bob Sims and his four followers wrecked the Sims house, and burned it to the ground, and then killed every living thing on the place except members of the family, who escaped to a neighbor's house and who will move as soon as possible to another state.

Latest from the Scene.

New Orleans, December 28.—The Picayune's Shubuta, Miss. special, says: a News continues to come slowly from the seat of war in Choctaw. The latest and best confirmed is that John Sims, brother of Bob, who has not heretofore participated in Bob's vagaries and lawlessness, was arrested late Saturday evening because of letters found in Bob's house and in the pocket of one of the Savage boys implicated. It is believed he was lynched before his custodians reached the jail with him.

Jim Mosely, Sims's follower, was also arrested and was in great danger of being lynched. He was tried by vigilants, and it seems that nothing could be proved against him and he succeeded in before any of the atrocities were committed. He told them that Jim Sims, who was killed at Bladon Springs while rescuing Bob from the United States marshal, was the man that killed reacher Carroll some time between tragedy.

Jim Sims came to Mosely and brought him to assist in the assassination of Carroll, but Mosely, intending to quit the Suns gang, succeeded in pleading the sickness of his wife. Carroll was killed that night, and Mosely dared not expose the slayer. After renouncing the Sims creed, and promising solemnly to reform and become a good citizen, Mosely was released. No negro was

RALEIGH, N. C., December 28.—[Special.]—
The burning of the entire family of William Pearsall, in the latter's house, in Wayne county, near Goldsboro, is the most horrible event of the holiday season. The house, it is reported, was observed to be on fire, but by the time the neighbors reached there it was a pile of timbers. The skeletons of Pearsall, his wife and his two little children were found.
It is now discovered that all the family were murdered and the house set on fire and that jealousy and revenge were the motives of the crime. A white man named Thompson is declared today by the coroner's jury to be the murderer. He courted the woman who afterwards became Pearsall's wife, and sines then has treasured a gradge against the lucky man. It was in the evidence that Pearsall and Thompson rode home together on the night of the crime, leaving Goldsboro in Pearsall's wagon, that the house was on fire at 11 o'clock, and that in less than two hours later Thompson was seen again in a low barroom in Goldsboro. The people are terribly stirred up by the crime all over the county, and Thompson will have to be closely guarded to save him from lynching.

The People Moving for a Reduction of the Jackson, Miss., December 28.—[Special.]-

The low price of cotton has created consternation among the farmers, and the talk of reducing the acreage next year is rife, and seems to be the only remedy, but can united action in the matter be had? Talk is cheap, and the matter be had? Talk is cheap, and will the discussion end in smoke? To illustrate how it may end, the remarks of a planter, who was discussing the matter yesterday, are quoted. After an expression of his opinions that reduction in production was the only remedy, etc., and urging this course by the planters, your correspondent said to him: "Well, Mr. Blank, how much are you going to cut down your cotton acreage?" With a shrug of the shoulders, he whispered, "None; I am not raising enough now, but my neighbors and everybody else are planting too much."

TWO AMENDMENTS

Which the Legislature Proposed to Submit to the People

TO PROVIDE FOR ANNUAL SESSIONS

Have Defects Which Render Them Inoperative.

SUBMITTED TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,

Who Has a Knotty Question to Decide What Governor Northen Has to Say About the Matter.

THE CONSTITUTION printed yesterday a summary of Hon. Lewis Garrard's article on defective legislation. He makes the point that two of the acts proposing constitutional amendments are imperfect, in that they propose to amend paragraphs which are not to be found in the constitution.

One proposes to amend article 2, section 4, paragraph 3, of the constitution so as to provide for annual sessions of the general assembly. The other proposes to amend article 2, section 4, paragraph 6 of the constitution so as to limit sessions of the legislature to fifty days. Both refer to article 2, section 4, which has only two paragraphs, and those two refer to a totally different subject. Article 3 is plainly the one intended, for it is devoted exclusively to the legislative department of the govern-ment. Furthermore, if we turn to its fourth section, we find that its third paragraph pro-vides for biennial sessions of the legislature, and its sixth paragraph provides that sessions of the general assembly shall not be longer than forty days, unless extended by a two-thirds vote of both houses. There is another article devoted to the legislature, but it refers exclusively to the taxing power of the general assembly, and has only two sections. The only article in the constitution touching the legislature, and having a fourth section with paragraphs 3 and 6, is the third article; and in that the paragraphs named fit precisely and unmistakably the subject matter of the proposed constitutional amendments. It is impossible, then, for a man with the constitu-tion in his hand to be in doubt as to what is the purport of these amendments. Be-yond question they are intended to apply as Mr. Garrard suggests, to article 3, section 4 and paragraphs 3 and 6 respectively. Only in changing these paragraphs can the object declared in the captions of the acts be attained. Yesterday a visit was made to the secretary of state's office to find whether the errors in the printed copy of the acts of the last legislature exist in the original bills which were passed by the two houses and signed by the governor. The two bills were referred to and found to contain the errors in the printed copy. Both referred to article 2, instead of article 3, of the constitution. It was found that the original did not tain the expression, "constitution of 1887" for "constitution of 1877," as it occurred in the printed copy. That was a typographical error and does not affect the law.

But the most important error, the naming original bills, beyond the shadow of a doubt. Both bills were introduced by Mr. Wheeler, of Walker county, and both were referred to the general judiciary committee. On the back each bill bears the favorable report of the committee in the sterotyped form: "Do pass, Hill, chairman." On the back of each bill was also written in blue pencil: "Special order

October 7th, at 11 o'clock." The two bills were considered together because they related to two parts of the same subjects, and it took the two features to make either effective as intended. It is very strange that this bill should have houses with this error, but it did, and was signed by the governor.

Effect of the Errors. Now, the question is, will these clerical erors in the bills make them inoperative? Will the lapse be fatal when it is known beyond what the legislature was voting to amend?

This question will be submitted to the attor-

Governor Northen was asked what he would do with these two imperfect bills and replied:
"The clerical errors mentioned by Mr. Garrard are in the original bills introduc the house. These two were among the 175 bills which the legislature left for me to sign in three days. Among these were several objectionable bills which required a good deal of attention, like the school bill for instance, and some of them I had to veto. It was out of the question under the circumstances for me to erify reference in all those bills. If there had been more time I would have done so, but as it was I worked day and night and just got through. At the same time Governor Hill was here and I could not omit the courtesy due from the executive of one state to the executive of another.

"I will submit the matter to the attorney general. Off hand it would seem impossible to amend a constitutional paragraph which does not exist, but it may be that the attorney general will find the intention of the general assembly so plain as to be unmistakable. If he thinks to said that it may be submitted to he thinks so, and that it may be submitted to the people by correcting the clerical error, and I can satisfy myself that that view is correct, then it will be submitted to the people. But until I am satisfied that this can be done, I do nntil I am satisfied that this can be done, I do not propose to spend five or six hundred dollars advertising these amendments.

"In regard to the propriety of a fifty-day session, I do not like the idea of hasty work. I think we should put our legislators on salaries. All the other state officers are on salaries, and why not they? If that were done and the pressure were withdraw I don't think free passes were withdrawn, I don't think they would stay here too long."

Why the Short Session Is Practicable. Mr. Garrard's article is principally devoted to an argument against the fifty-day session. He shows that deducting Sundays, holidays and the number of days consumed in organization, inauguration of the governor, election zation, mangaration of the governor, spectron of judges and solicitors, and occasionally the election of a United States senator, only thirty-four days are left for the actual work of legislation. Then he makes a point that a bill requires seven days to pass when not combill requires seven days to pass when not committed, and about ten days when it is committed, provided there is no opposition. In this state of affairs, he argues if there should come up an important measure, involving the rights of the people on the one side and the corporations on the other, with the house almost equally divided, it would be possible by obstructive tactics to delay action on an important bill until the time of the session expired.

Mr. Garrard overlooks two important facts.

First, the measure so pending would not be killed, but would come up as unfinished business in the second session. Second, one of the other proposed constitutional amendments, which Mr. Garrard does not criticise, relieves the legislature of an immense mass of corporation work by sending it to the office of the secretary of state, where charters of banks, insurance, canal, navigation, express and telograph companies, etc., will be issued under general laws. It was estimated that two-thirds of the bills were of this class of legislation.

general laws. It was estimated that two-thirds of the bills were of this class of legislation.

Now, if this amendment becomes a law, as it doubtless will, the legislature will be relieved of a large part of its work. Many of these charters were many pages in length and had to be read three times at an expense of a hundred dollars an hour. By taking the mass of detail work out of the legislative department, a great deal of time is saved.

Now let us see what the legislature has in the way of sessions now. The custom is for a legislature to set forty days at its first session and adjourn over to summer, and at the adjourned session to set ninety to one hundred days. The two years have settings of one hundred and thirty to one hundred and forty days, say on the average sixty-seven days a year. The proposed amendment allows ifty days a year, and with it goes an amendment relieving the legislature of more than half the routine work it now has to do.

FATHER AGAINST SON.

fom Jones Has His Son Locked Up Charged with Stealing His Watch.

There is trouble in the Jones family.
It is a case of father against son and vice versa.
Yesterday afternoon Walter Jones was arrested at the instance of his father, on the charge of Tom Jones, a well-known character around Your Jones, a well-known character around town, yesterday ordered the arrest of his son Walter for stealing his watch. He said that the boy had stolen his watch and pawned it. The boy admitted that he had pawned the watch and produced the ticket for it, but claimed that the manner in which he became into possession of it could not be a case of theft.

The boy seemed to have just about the same opinion about his father that the latter entertains toward him. After the boy was arrested and locked up he told his side of the story.

He said that his father had made him drunk He said that his father had made him drunk both Saturday and Sunday. That while be was in a drunken condition his father got him into a gambling den, and engaged him in a fatherly game. He says further that in this game his father beat him out of all the money he had. When he sobered up he found himself broke, and knowing his father had beat him out of his money he went and got the old man's watch and "hung it up" for a stake.

There is quite a diversion of opinion as to the merits of the case, and the trial will be watched with interest.

A SUMMER THEATER.

Opera at Popular Prices a Possibility at the Barracks.

New dynamos, boiler and engine are to be placed in the power house of the McPherson barracks and Grant park electric lines.

barracks and Grant park electric lines.

Two dynamos and a two-hundred-and-fifty-horse-power engine will be added. This will enable the company to run fifteen cars as against five now. The work is to be done by March 1st, by which time the travel begins to increase.

There is also talk of a summer theater at McPherson barracks. The idea is to erect a neat but not too costly house for summer opers. Popular prices will be charged if the enterprise is carried out. The question of cost of erection, expense of running and revenue is now being mestigated. The electric railway company will back the theatrical enterprise if there seems to be moneyin it. Cheap summer opers at the barracks would add largely to the railway's patronage and receipts.

THE BUSINESS OF SAVANNAH.

The Merchants Look for a Fair Year's

SAVANNAH, Ga., December 28.—[Special.]—A general resume of the business of Savannah merchants, for the year just closing, shows that in point of luck it has been fully as good as that of 1890. With few exceptions, howas that of 1890. With few exceptions, however, the merchants are unanimous in asserting that their cash trade has fallen off perceptibly during the past year, and they all attribute this to the low price of cotton. The country merchants are at present buying very little, and the city firms are displaying great caution in making sales. It is encouraging to note that collections have become much better and less difficult during the last month or so.

or so.

The merchants of Savannah, talking with THE CONSTITUTION correspondent today, took a very hopeful view of the business situation and outlook. To quote one of them: "There is nothing alarming in the financial situation and I think we may expect a fair business vasx."

Many say that the brightening up in the north and west must be felt in the south soon.
While none are overconfident, at the same time none are depressed. The new year, though, will find them all exercising the same caution as during the past few months.

Dead, but No One Knows Him. SAVANNAH, Ga., December 28.—[Special.]— Captain Garnett, of the steamer Bellevue, brought Captain Garnett, of the steamer Bellevue, brought news tonight of the finding of the body of a white man on the shore of a creek on St. Catharine island. The body was nude, but about the head was wrapped several articles of clothing, as if they had been used to bind and gag the man. On the breast were two deep stabs, either of which would probably have caused death. The face had been eaten by fish and crabs. There was nothing by which the identity of the man could be discovered, and no clue as to the murderers and their object. The man was evidently good looking and not a sailor, or one in hard occupation. The body was temporarily buried.

Brunswick, Ga., December 28.—[Special.]—Tonight Brunswick's Tammany tendered a banquet to the city and county officials and a body of citizens who work with them in all the political and other moves for Brunswick's interest. The banquet was spread at the elegant bachelor home of Brunswick's Tammany chief, Mr.
Jacob L. Beach, and for magnificence has never been surpassed in this city About sixty representative business men, judges, lawyers, officials and newspaper men were present. Unfortunately Mr. Beach was ill, but his lieutenant,
Lewis W. Beach, J. Christian Lehman, Reginald Travers, Eugene A. Nelson and W. D. Houston did the honors to perfection. Mayor Elect Lamb acted as toastmaster, assisted by Mayor Colson, Toasts were responded to by Judge Mershon,
Judge Atkinson, Colonels Bennet, Merriwether,

- A ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

A Young Couple Leave Home and Get Married and Are Forgiven.

RINGGOLD, Ga., December 28.—(Special.)—There was a very romantic marriage at Ringgold last Sunday. The happy parties were Miss Henri Goodwin and Mr. Will Bender, both of Dalton. The parents of the young people objected to the marriage, and early Sunday morning the young people left Dalton in a buggy and drove to Ringgold, fourteen miles distant, where the nuptial knot was securely tied by Rev. T. R. Hardin. As soon as the ceremony was performed the romantic young couple went to the telegraph office and telegraphed their parents that they would arrive on the afternoon train, and that they were married.

They were given a warm reception on their arrival at Dalton, and all was forgiven. The young people are very highly connected. Mr. Bender's father is the superintendent of the Cherokee Mining and Manufacturing Company. Married and Are Forgiven.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., December 28.—[Special.]—sensational street fight occurred today between Adolph Cohen and Nathan Linx, representing Rothschilds & Co., of Cincinnati, O., over the payment of a debt. No injuries, but much excitement.

Neither Man Showed Up

New York, December '28.—Peter Maher and Jack Dempsey were to have signed articles today for a match in Madison Square garden in Janu-ary. Neither man showed up. Police Superin-tendent Murray's recent order forbidding prima fights in this city was what deterred the puglista.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Decisions Rendered Monday, December 28, 1891.

ROCKMART, Ga., December 22.—[Special.]—T. P.
Weston, a man of about fifty years of age, a renter on A. B. S. Davis's place, went to him this morning for money to buy liquor. Mr. Davis refused him the money. He then followed him around the blace, cutting him with a knife. Mr. Davis came to town and got a warrant for Weston's arrest.
A. G. Bullock, marshal, with A. S. Williamson, went to arrest him. On arriving at his house, which is about four miles from here, he found him armed with a double-barreled shotgun, in which Bullock ordered him to hold up his hands. Weston then fired one barrel at him, loaded with buck shot, taking effect in his face, killing him instantly, firing the other barrel at Williamson and missing him. Williamson then fired at him with a pistol, missing him also. Weston took to the woods, and is yet at large. A posse of men is after him, and it is hoped that he will be captured before day. Mr. Bullock was very much liked by the people of Rockmart, and was a good marshal, always at his post. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss. Man Whom He Was Seeking to Arrest.

TWO DEATHS IN MACON. Demise of Mrs. R. C. Tracy and Mrs. Robert

Macon, Ga., December 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. R. C. Tracy, one of Macon's oldest and most highly esteemed ladies, died this morning at 7 o'clock, at the residence of Dr. John S. The Scalpers Prohibited in Augusta. The Scalpers Prohibited in Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., December 28.—[Special.]—A big fight is expected in Augusta between the city and the ticket scalpers. The city has placed the license of the ticket brokers at $5,000 in order to get the railroads to offer low rates for the carnival and other festivals during the year. Mr. George Pettyjohn, the ticket scalper at the Arlington hotel, proposes to sell tickets at cut rates right along; that lawyers say the law is prohibitory, therefore illegal.

The Southbound Connections.

The Southbound Connections.

SAVANNAH, Ga., December 28.—[Special.]—The Southbound people here are reticent about all things connected with the road and its business. It has been their policy ever since the road was planned. Although they say little, it is apparent that there is considerable on foot just now. In addition to the marketing of the new stock and the arrangements for the extension of the road into Columbia and this city, with the securing of necessary terminals at each place, it is understood that they are in correspondence with northern parties with regard to the building of a road from Columbia on to Monroe, N. C., where northern connections can be made as originally contemplated. The principal builders of the Southbound have gone to New York, where they will negotiate with English capitalists now in that city, and others, for the funds to build the road from Columbia to Monroe. The plan is said to be to form a combination between the Southbound and these people for the building of this road.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange. NEW YORK, December 28.—The stock market oday, after an extended holiday, showed its inherent trength, while the postponed business of the last few lays made transactions for the day the largest of any lay since the present rise began. Improvement in raises, however, while very marked in a few stocks, siness done, and the advance was not so steady as i in a great measure, made by the shorts, who put out their lines during last week, but while new buying was large and influential, realizing on profits accrue during last month was sufficient to give the market a heavy temper at times, and some of the leading shares heavy temper at times, and some of the leading shares are even fractionally lower this evening, while New York Central is over 1 per cent lower. This was, in a great measure, due to the heavy pressure brought to bear upon the property by the bear contingent, their hope evidently being the rapid selling off of this most prominent stock after its late heavy rise, to influence the general list unfavorably, and so make a their hope evidently being the rapid selling off of this most prominent stock after its late heavy rise, to influence the general list unfavorably, and so make a halt in the remarkable advance which has now lasted so long. The effort, however, met with absolutely no success, and Lake Shore rose 1½ per cent at one time from its opening, while the strength of the rest of the market remained unimpaired except by realizations during the day. The Gould shares were more prominent in dealings than for some time, while they were also strong features of the day, the Missouri Pacific taking the lead in the forenoon, and the Union Pacific toward the close, coming up with a rush which placed it upon a materially higher level than on Thursday. None of the other leading shares displayed any marked strength, but Omaha common continued its upward movement and scored the largest net advance of any stock during the day. As a rule, smally active stocks moved within very narrow limits, when the volume of business is considered, many being traded in over a range less than ½ of 1 per cent. Coal stocks were quiet and without feature, but industrials were more largely traded in at advancing prices, Distillers being specially strong. Foreigners were not an influential factor in dealings, but the west bought liberally of its specialties. Among the low priced shares, only Tennessee Coal made any marked movement. The market opened very active and deidedly trong, but the advance over Thursday's figures extended to only % per cent. Pressure to sell injearly trading, and decided weakness in New York Central caused recession in the list, bringing most stocks slightly below the level of the opening figures. The narket, however, under the urgent demands shown by the shorts, railised quickly, and prices all along the line were advanced large fractions. Realizations in the Afternoon, however caused another slightly downward movement, while New York Central is down 1¼. Bales, listed stocks, 44,000 shares; unulisted, 16,000.

NEW YORK, December 28.—There has been no let up in the activity in or the strength of the stock market today and quotations have all scored a substantial advance and, although there was some realizing shortly before the close, which led to' a trifling tenession from the best prices of the day almost without exception the list closes at an advance over prices ruling before the holidays. The features at the opening were the execution of large buying orders for foreign excounts as well as heavy purchases by commission browns, all of whom seemed to have all they could handle. Much of the latter buying was undoubtedly the tother purchasing by those who had unloaded their holding prior to the holidays in expectation of a stocks as from the control of the latter buying was undoubtedly than it has been in some time and such stocks as from the control of the latter buying was control of the latter buying was undoubtedly at the stocks as from the control of the latter buying was undoubtedly the stocks as from the latter of the latter was broader today than it has been in some of the fancies, such as those mentioned above. The demand for bonds continues latter than ever and money is in plentiful supply.

Hubbard. Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, December 28.—[Special.]—An intelligent comparison of the weekly figures, as made up to last Friday evening, is difficult in consequence of the holidays. The Chronicle statement for the six days makes the plantation movement 255,000 bales, against 314,000 bales for the seven days last year, which would indicate a weekly plantation movement of about 14,000 bales less than 1890. The total crop in sight up to Thursday evening is 6,112,000 bales, against 5,604,000 bales at the same time last year. The total receipts last week are about 258,000 bales, against 268,000 bales last year, but the movement for Saturday and today will probably aggregate only 70,000 bales, against 100,000 bales last year. This is the first real falling off that the movement has shown, and its indecacations will not be regarded as conclusive unless the Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. ing off that the movement has shown, and its indeacations will not be regarded as conclusive unless the same ratio of decrease is maintained after the holiday season. The weekly report of the print cloth market at Fail River, published in yesterday's Tribune, reads as follows: "The stock of print cloths now on hand is only nominal, being equal to three days' production. The feeling among manufacturers and operatives is better at time than at any period within two years, and the advancing prices of mill slocks are a sufficient indication of how the prospects are regarded by investors." In the absence of any market in Liverpool or official advices from there, trading in New York today has reflected solely the view taken of the situation by our local operators. At the openof the situation by our local operators. At the open-ing the demoralization following Bradstreets' report of ing the demoralization following Bradstreets' report of Thursday continued, and there was a considerable liquidation of long cotton made at a decline of from 9 @10 points as compared with Thursday. This over, however, a sharp recovery ensued as a result of the the lighter receipts and investment buying. March sold as low as 7.70 and as high as 7.76 before 12 o'clock. By that hour the equilibrium had been re-established, and prices were quiet some 2@3 points below the highest. It had been feared that large selling orders would be received here today for Liverpool account, but such be received here today for Liverpool account, but such has not been the case. Our cables are to the effect that the Liverpool market has fully discounted the cer tainty of an American supply of 8,250,000 bales and the possibility of 8,400,000 bales, and we doubt if the Bradpossibility of 8,400,000 bales, and we doubt if the Bradstreets report will have much effect, especially if receipts commence to fall oft. During the afternoon the nervousness of the market precipitated fresh liquidation, the improvement of the morning was lost and a further decline of 3,24 points was established. Towards the close, however, greater steadiness developed, and the finish was aimost firm at about opening prices. The day has been one of no little strain, and anticipations of tomorrow's Liverpool market vary widely. tions of tomorrow's Liverpool market vary widely. The best opinions seem to be that, inasmuch as a full response to our decline since Thursday of 30 points means 4d or lower for the near positions in Liverpool, t is hardly likely that this figure will be reached. conservative estimates of receipts for the week are 210,000 to 220,000 bales, against 253,000 bales last year.
If these figures are not exceeded more stable markets may, we think, be looked for.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter. By private wire to Youngblood & Haas.

NEW YORK, December 28.—Our markets this morning opened undecided and to all intents and purposes at a decline which had hardly been as great as was expected, people here generally having anticipated very heavy selling orders from Europe because of the close of Liverpool making this the only market in which action might have been taken. As it was, prices very soon after the call improved, and at one time were not far from Thursday's closing. Later in the day, however, the very heavy estimates from New Orleans for tomorrow caused values rapidly to give way some NEW YORK, December 28 .- Our markets this morn comorrow caused values rapidly to give way some three or four points below the opening quotations. Subsequently a slight recovery was made on the re-vision of Saturday's receipts, which were only 20,000 gainst early estimates and cables to Europe against early estimates and cables to Europe of 35,000 to 37,000 bales for that day. On this showing we close very steady and values are exactly as they were at the start this morning. We have simply to say that, disregarding the estimate which has created so much demoralization, we feel today as if we were never better, and betteve that, even admitting a much larger yield than we ourselves personally look for, prices are low enough now. It may be that under this tremendous pressure and heavy losses which our longs have experienced a further decline may first prevail, but in the end we are certainly favorable to the article and think we shall see a good recovery in the course of time. There is some value to the article and we have always found that extremes follow either encouraging or discouraging advices. We shall digest whatever cotton comes into sight and unless the tendency for the future is to a higher range again we believe the south must restrict its operations through force of necessity. Seven and a half cents here means barely 6 cents to the producer and we have not heard that the article can be reised for this price, and when such conditions come into play we believe that we are safe in encouraging action on the bull side, which we unhesitatingly do now.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO. December 28. — The wheat m opened very dull, with hardly any disposition to on either side of the market. The feeling was from the start. Cables were not particularly unfavorable, Liverpool being a shade higher for futures, but the absence of local support and meagerness of outside business flad a depressing influence. At the start there were some good purchases, which held prices tolerably well for a time, but, when this buying was satisfied, the market became heavy, and declined I cent. Mitchell turned seller as soon as the above support was out of the way, and, under his offerings, a weak market ruled, the price touching the lowest point for a long time. Heretofore 96c has been the rallying point for May, but, when it got started today it went off easily below that line, and showed but little rallying power. Domestic markets were all dull and easy, and private cables were also discouraging. There were some reports of foreign buying in New York, but it had little or no effect. The weakness continued throughout the session, but the close was at about bottom prices, and weak.

Corn was decidedly weak for December and January, both futures selling off sharply, while May was also heavy, but did not decline to the same extent. Receipts of corn were large and contained a much larger proportion than usual of the contract grade, while there was very little demand with the general pressure to sell, which quickly sent the prices of December and January tumbling. December rallied a little from the bottom near the close, but January and May closed at near the lowest point, with a loss of 1% for December; 2 cents for January and % cents for May, compared with Thursday's last figures. A large increase in the visible supply was a depressing factor during the latter part of the session.

Oats were dull and steady and showed a decline since Thursday of ½6% cents.

nce Thursday of 1/4@% cents. Hog products opened rather strong on the moder ate receipts of hogs and strong prices at the yards but soon sympathized with the weakness in the grain pits and sold off sharply, closing at about outside figures compared with Thursday's last figures. The leading futures ranged as follows in Chicago taday.

CHICAGO, December 28.—The lack of interest that usually prevails during the holiday season is the principal feature of our markets at present. Foreign markets seem to be in about the same condition, very markets seem to be in about the same condition, very little doing by exporters and speculators. Receipts continue liberal and stocks are large and as is usually the case a dull market with those conditions means lower prices. There is a general desire among merchants and other business branches, as is the custom, to even up and be ready to start anew with the beginning of the year.

The manufacturing interest of Great Britain and the cotton interest of the southern states owing to the low price of cotton are in great need of ready money to meet their obligations and the fear that there may be some financial disaster in consequence causes capitalists and bankers to use an unusual amount of caution in making investments, another element of weaktion in making investments, another element of weakness in the general market.

"The Devil Quotes Scripture." We observe that the republican press and some of our esteemed mugwump contemporaries are laying great stress on a recent letter of Mr. W. J. Arkell, the proprietor of Judge, in which he says of Governor Hill as a presidential possibility:

Big as Mr. Hill is in New York, the better element of the party is against him, and the country outside of New York cares very little about him. Mr. Blaine would beat him out of his under-clothing. I am not so sure that Mr. Blaine or General Harrison could beat Cleveland.

Mr. Arkell is an excellent gentleman. but a thorough republican, and is the partner of Mr. Russell Harrison, son of the

Is it good policy for democrats to go to republican editors and almost to President Harrison's household, for advice as to who should be nominated to carry the standard of the democracy in 1892? Of course Mr. Arkell will continue to do, as he is now doing, through his well-known publications, his utmost to advance the interests of the republican party, and it may be well understood that his views as to the policy of the democratic party will not be in decided favor with those who have the success of the party at heart.

Mr. Hill may or may not be the man for the party to nominate. If it develops that he is strongest with the delegations from New York, New Jersey, Indiana and Con necticut, then he should be nominated. These are the doubtful states, and their electoral votes are necessary for democratic success. If the delegates from these states, or a majority of them, are in favor of Mr. Cleveland, then Mr. Cleveland should be nominated, and THE CONSTITUTION does not hesitate to say so, and to give earnest assurance, in advance, that if he is nominated he will have no more enthusiastic champion in the United States than this

If the delegates from these doubtful state think that the choice of a leader should be made from some other state than New York, then the man who may be most satisfac tory to them should be given the nomina-

But in the meantime does it not seem absurd, or at least significant, for the republican and mugwump press to be quot ing with intense editorial emphasis what Mr. Arkell, the partner of President Harrison's son, and part proprietor of two of the republican administration's leading organs, has to say by word of advice to the dem-

The Problem of the Cotton Planters. The problem of the cotton planters is everybody's problem, and it is a very serious one. The planters are suffering, not only from the effects of overproduction, but from the effects of overspeculation, for which they are not responsible. During the past two years more bales of cotton have been bought and sold on paper than the farmers of the south can produce in fifty years. The talk about overproduction is not illuminating. According to Mr. Ellison and other experts, the big crop of 1889-90 was just about equal to the world's demands, and it is well known that the world's consumption has steadily kept up with the increased supply. There is no doubt that the last two crops have been too large for the comfort of those who produce cotton, but there is another explanation of the phenom-

Farmers who read the newspapers have frequently been advised of the marked symnathy existing between the price of silver and the price of cotton. Tables showing the relation between the two articles have been printed time and again, showing that they rise or fall together, with little or no variation. When, therefore, we find cotton at its lowest price, as has been the case during the present year, it is natural that we should turn with interest to the price of silver to see whether its old relation is kept up. Any farmer can investigate this matter for himself. Silver is lower now than it has been in many years, and so is cotton. We need not stop to inquire into the cause of the sympathy that exists between the price of silver and the price of cotton. The fact demonstrates itself. When falls, cotton falls; when silver rises, cotton shows a marked tendency up-

At this time British merchants can buy a dollar's worth of Indian cotton for seventy cents' worth of silver, and this transaction fixes the price of American cotton. The Indian dealers lose nothing by the transaction. Having the benefits of free coinage they can take their seventy cents' worth of silver and have it coined into rupees worth a dollar in The demonetization of silver by the United States, under the auspices of John Sherman, was solely for the benefit of British Interests. Today it enables Great Britain to fix the price of American cotton by purchasing a dollar's worth of Indian cotton for seventy cents' worth of American siver, With silver monometallism in India and gold monometallism at home. Great Britain is able to dictate terms to the world.

This is a matter the farmers should think of. The free coinage of silver here would take their cotton and their wheat from under the control of British interests. When English merchants wanted a dollar's worth of American cotton they would have to pay a dollar in British gold for it. The price of southern cotton would at once go up, and we should hear little talk of overproduction.

Cold Weather Needed. We have had a touch of cool weather, but no cold weather worth mentioning. The forecasts of the experts are rather onflicting. Some predict a mild open winter, and other say that there will be very cold spells in January. The past two or three winters have been too mild in this region. We need periods of severe cold at this season. It is good for both man and beast, good for the soil, good for the crops, and it is good for the general health of the country. A cold wave that will kill the germs of disease in the far south is needed now more than any other one thing that could be named.

It is not too late for all sorts of weather. Before the winter is over we may get more than our share of blizzards and freezes. It they come they will do more good than harm. A genuine winter, with sleet and snow, and freezing cold always helps us Even at its worst, in this section, winter does not last long enough to cause much suffering.

Israelites in the War.

Owing to recent criticisms in The North American Review on the loyalty and courage of the Hebrews, it has been determined to collate in book form the records of Hebrew union soldiers, and to supplement these records with a roster of th Hebrew soldiers who fought on the confederate side. Mr. Simon Wolf, of Washington, has undertaken to collate the record on the union side, and Mr. Eugene Levy, of the New York Press Club, will arrange the confederate roster of Hebrews.

Readers of THE CONSTITUTION who have any information on the subject should send the name, rank and command of Hebrews who served in the southern army to Mr. E. H. Levy, Press Club, New York city. There were few communities in the south that die not contribute one or more Hebrew volunteers to the confederate army, and it is a happy thought to commemorate their deeds and their devotion.

A Hopeless Case.

It is not always a pleasant task to look over our mail. Such a letter as the follow ing, for instance, is not calculated to promote the general comfort and cheer of the edito rial floor:

I enclose a short poem. Should it be received will you give any remuneration for it? I am anx-ious to make a little money, and have tried various ways. My mother, whose sole support I am, has consumption, and it is to procure medicine and food for her that I make this attempt.

The poem was not above the average Plenty of better verse comes in every week for which the writers ask no remuneration. But our correspondent has read of the tempting rewards of authorship, and the pressure of hard times makes it necessary for her to earn money. It seems so easy to write a short poem and get a check for it Paper and postage are cheap, and in no other way can good returns be secured for such

So reasoned the writer of this poor little ooem. And she is not the only one that is doomed to disappointment. Some time ago a girl urged us to pay for her first attempts in the story line so that she could buy a piano. Another girl wanted to furnish fiftytwo short sketches in a year for forty dollars

Now these amateur writers would langh at the idea of trying to draw or paint for the public without instruction, study and practice. Yet they take it for granted that their first eradle efforts in the writing line are more than worth their weight in gold.

This is an age of great literary activity. The general education of the masses has produced hundreds of writers where there is room only for a dozen or two. The supply of even good work exceeds the demand. Naturally, this overstocking of the literary market has caused publishers and editors to give the preference to the well-known names that will attract a large number of readers. A fairly good poem or sketch by an unknown writer will pass unnoticed, but one not a whit better with a famous signature will be read and talked about.

But it will be said that new writers are all the time coming to the front. This is true. Talent, determination and hard work will accomplish wonders, but why waste so much of it in the comparatively unremunerative literary field, when success is easier and more profitable in other occupations?

Our advice to the person who is compelled to earn money for the needs of next week or next year is to try any honorable work except that of grinding out so-called literary stuff. The first thing to be done is to secur regular employment. Then, if the toiler must write, let such by-play be the pastime of an idle hour.

Wrecked in Port.

Joseph Pulitzer, of The New York World, is about fifty years old, and is a physical wreck.

Twenty-five years ago Pulitzer had strong constitution, and was apparently capable of any amount of work. He had extraordinary will power and ambition, and labored night and day to make himself a successful journalist and a rich man.

He started without money or friends, and had a hard struggle. But he realized his dream. His great newspaper, his real estate, his yacht and other visible signs of wealth all speak for themselves.

Such success has to be paid for, and Mr. Pulitzer is paying for it now. A recent Paris letter says that he is in that city, an invalid too feeble to give much attention to his paper. The other day he entertained s friend at dinner. The host could eat noth ing, and to his friend he said that he would gladly give up success and wealth if he could only regain his former health. Now, he can only eat a few bits and drink only a few swallows prescribed by his physician. He cannot stand excitement, and can see only dimly through his glasses. With an active mind, he is virtually a prisoner fretting over his inability to continue his work. If this man had been satisfied with a in his prime, enjoying life, and looking forward to a vigorous old age. As it is, life is a burden to him, and he begins to think that he is a failure.

Good health is too precious a thing to be ecklessly parted with. There is very little pleasure in success when a man has to pay the price for it that Joseph Pulitzer is now paying.

About to Be Converted.

Referring to the silver question The New York World remarks that "the thing wanted is true enlightenment, not doctrinaire dogmatism." If this statement is intended to show that the world has reached a point where it is willing to discuss the question of free coinage, we must congratulate our contemporary on its determination to ignore the sinister influences which have succeeded in befuddling the majority of the metropolitan editors. moment that the editor of The World undertakes to study the question impartially, that moment he becomes a convert to free coinage, for there has never yet been offered against it an argument that is not the very essence of dogmatism. Facts, common sense, experience-all are in favor of free coinage, and there cannot at this time be urged against it a single argument that was not empolyed against the Bland-Allison compulsorý coinage act.

The one statement which the goldolators fall back on when they are pushed to the wall, is to the effect that free coinage here would make the United States the dumpingground of all of Europe's depreciated silver. A great many ignorant people have been impressed by this statement, for it carries with it the idea of billions of tons of silver with which Europe is ready to overwhelm us.

The World, however, has been supplied, as it says, with some very interesting facts by gentleman who has held high and respon sible office in the treasury department. This gentleman tells The World that there would be no deluge of European silver here, nor, indeed any very large addition to our volume of currency. He points out that our neighbor republic Mexico enjoys the advantage of free and unlimited coinage a ratio substantially identical with ours, yet no European ships freighted with silver seek its

We are very glad The World proposes to discuss this matter fairly and impartially. As it proceeds, it will have occasion to discover that there is practically no division among the democratic voters of the country on the subject. The real division exists in the republican party, and on this issue, fairly and squarely made, the democrats could sweep the country.

What The World's informant says about the increase in the volume of currency as the result of free coinage is substantially true so far as silver is concerned, but with that metal restored to its proper place, it could be used as the money of ultimate payment and would be made the basis of state bank circulation throughout the country.

THE DEFEAT of Michael Davitt probably settles the hash of constitutional agitation in Ireland for some time to come.

IT is funny, but the republicans regard Governor Hill's farewell dinner as a regular democratic howdy-do. IN SPITE of the attacks on Speaker Crisp, tariff reform must go on. IF MAJOR MOSES P. HANDY had a porta ble Clover Club, which he could carry around with him, he would carry the whole country before him in favor of the world's fair. THE TROUBLE with Jones, of St. Louis, is that he was too cockahoop, as Mr. Howells would remark. A one-horse editor on a two horse paper should never be too cockahoop. MODERN BRITISH POETS do not have any show in Kansas City. Kansas City wants literature that has hide and hoofs.

▲ Needless Anti-Confederate Law

From The St. Louis Globe Democrat. The bill introduced by Senator Daniel, of Vir ginia, to repeal the law which prohibits ex-con-federate officers from serving in the army or navy of the United States ought to be pass ures of like purport were proposed before, but they were lost sight of in the pressure of legisla-tion which congressmen deemed more urgent. We trust that this bill will have better fortune. The war spirit was conspicuous and vital when the law now sotight to be repealed was enacted. A law now sotight to be repealed was enacted. At that time there appeared to be a necessity for the restriction, but this has long since passed away, Then the law meant something, and guarded against a danger which many supposed to be im-minent. In the lapse of years, however, the law has been so completely forgotten that to nine out of every ten persons the existence of such an act will for the first time be revealed by the measure designed to secure its annulment. The average person cares little now about the civil war except as to causes and results. Even to those who participacted in it the memory of it is rapidly dying out, and they have no desire to perpetuate anything which predicts war with the collections. edlessly revives the

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

I occupied a seat at a table in a well-known restaurant the other day. On my left at the sam table was a tall, handsome, double-breasted gentle man, who was patiently waiting for his order to be filled. My order had just arrived, and among the things which the waiter falled to place in my reach was black pepper. ' "Will you please pass the pepper?" I asked the stranger by, certainly, sir," he replied, at the same "by certainy, but, in the castor.

"Do you know," said he, "that your request for pepper reminded me of something that happened to me a few months ago in Rochester?"

"I was in one of the leading hotels of Roche ter," he continued, "and on my right hand was a cross-looking old codger, who was devoting a great part of his time storming at the waiter grumbling at the fare, and creating a disturbance generally.

"I had occasion to want something—I believe it o accommodate me by passing it.

"'D-n it, sir,' he stormed out, 'I'm no waiter. "Such an unexpected response fairly took my reath for a moment, and I couldn't reply at once, ut when I did get my breath, I was mad—mad as a wet hen.

"I looked at him. He was busy with his eating.
"'Will you excuse me for speaking to you once more?' I asked.
"'No apologies necessary, sir,' he snapped, without raising his head.

"'D-n you, I'm not going to apologize!" replied, with more vehemence than dignity. If just wanted to say to you that I consider you a d—d hog, and that you are in the wrong place. Your place is down at the stock yards, where all of your kind are generally kept.

"What did he say to that?" "Not a word; never opened his dirty mouth. I wish he had, for I was possessed with an almost uncontrollable desire to smash a plate over his hoggish head, and I would have done so had he so much as winked his eye."

And he was physically able to do it, too. So when he asked me to pass him the tomato catsup, complied with alacrity.

Congressman Livingston is mighty cheerful at the prospect of alliance legislation going through the present congress. He was in Atlanta yester-day, and in chatting about the outlook said that the future looks bright. The fact is the straightout democrats, are bent on giving the country lower taxes, relief from the tariff and more money. f the country does not get relief it will be the fault of the republican senate or republican president, and not that of the democratic house.

"A caucus of the alliance representatives will, be held early next week and a plan of action will be outlined," said Colonel Livingston to a Con-STITUTION reporter. "We propose to agree among ourselves what to submit in the way of legislation nd then we will present it and push it.'

By the way, colonel, will Tom Watson attend "No sir-ee. He can't. He is not an allianceman and could not attend anyhow, but besides that he is a third party follower. None of those fellows, and there are eight of them, will take part in the alliance caucuses. How many alliance representatives? Thirty-three. We were speaking about the probable alliance legislation at this session. I am this kind of an allianceman—if can't get a whole loaf for my people, I am not go-ing to stand off and refuse to take any, but I will take half a loaf. We cannot get a bill passed which will reduce the duties all around, but we can most likely pass a bill which will make so of the necessities free. Alliance members supporte was known to favor a sweeping measure which would never pass the senate. This congress certainly give the country some relief where tariff makes necessities of life come high,"

"And how about the financial legislation?"

"At Ocala we said the country needs more money. We did not say whether we needed more silver or gold or paper. I believe we can pass a bill which will give the country more money. A free silver bill can surely be passed through the house and senate, and Mr. Harrison will hardly veto it. That would be defying the republicans of the northwest and west. First, though we allieves. and west. First, though, we alliancemen want and west. First, though, we amaneemen want the country to know how much money we have, what kind of money it is, and where it is—if it is properly distributed over the different sections or if one section has its own share and a large part has all the money that is needed, we should know it. If it has not, we should know it, and then get more. It is tim for us to know if it is a fact that foreigh capital makes wages and market prices in our country. Something must be done about our banking system. The national banks pay 1 per tax and state banks 10 per The banking system needs overhauling Our views on that question are pretty wel

Colonel Livingston will leave for Washington Friday night. He desires to be on hand when the recess is over. He is greatly pleased with his place on the appropriations con Judge Holman is chairman. This comm greater privileges than any other. It can always get the floor. And there is not a member of congress or of the senate who has not something to ask at the hands of this committee.

This congress will not make a billior a llar rec-ord, said Colonel Livingston. Indeed, the tra-dency will be toward the other extreme, and everything will be pared down. Rivers and harbors and public buildings will have a hard time of it.

Ex-Representative Harry Dunwoody, of Brunswick, is in the city on legal business. He says that Judge Atkinson, Solicitor General Brantley and Mr. Humphries, of Brooks, are mentioned as candidates in the new district, the eleventh, against Congressman Turner. Only two of Mr. Turner's old counties are in the new district.

"I do not think the average matron or maider cares particularly about being helped on or off a street car unless she has a child or a bundle in street car unless she has a child of a bundle in her arms," said a street car man yesterday. "Old ladies need assistance and are glad to have it of-fered. Any conductor will help an old negro woman on or off. There are two reasons for de this. It saves time and prevents accidents, which always result in damage suits against the com-pany. Conductors intend their attentions as courtesies. On my lines, the men always look carefully after the school children, get the and help them off. They are always particular about stopping on a dry place to let ladies off, and, although it is against the rules will back a car when they happen to run by crossing a few feet. I saw a conductor only a fee lays ago back a car to let three ladies off on a spot where they would not step in the mud. Their looks told that they appreciated his thoughtfulness. Why, on Christmas morning some of the familes along the line sent out eggnog to the men as they came along. Later in the day they sent out dainty lunches. As an officer of the company I was gratified."

There is some little feeling between the Washington and Savannah clerks in the Richmond and Danville offices. In some departments all the men are Virginians. In others they are nearly all Georgians. But in the auditing department they are mixed. The feeling does not amount to anything, but the boys are always getting off something at each other's expense. At times it is very amusing Rach side has its champion wits, and while the bouts are good natured, they are sharp and entertaining.

An Atlanta Democrat's Tribute to Hill. ATLANTA, Ga., December 28, 1891.-Editor Con stitution: I was in the interior of New York state in October, 1890, when Governor Hill was, almost single-handed, fighting the battles of democracy. Into almost every district into which he went, in that campaign, democracy was triumphant, and sent a representative to congress. Governor Hill did more for the success of the party then, as he is doing now, than any dozen other men in the country. To him more praise is due than any living man for the splendid posi-tion of the party today, and the people are thanktion of the party today, and the people are thankful that THE CONSTITUTION recognizes his eminent skill, ability and success in their behalf, in giving us the largest democratic representation in congress ever obtained.

ABOUT THE CAPITOL. Items of Interest Gathered Where the State's Business is Transacted.

Dr. O'Daniels, who is at home spending the holidays, has been telegraphed to go to Elbert county and report upon the healthfulness of the new site for a convict camp for females. The thirty-six female convicts who have heretofore been at Bolton will be located there. They passed through Atlants in a special care on their ways to through Atlanta in a special car on their way to the camp, and were the objects of a great deal of Captain Bradwell is receiving the reports from the county school commissioners every day. He is very busy apportioning the school fund for next year.

The papers in the cases of the convicts whose teru of sentence was left blank, have been sent back to the clerk of the superior court of Calhoun county for correction.

Another convict story developed in the penitentary office yesterday—this time a decidedly unique one. It came from a letter which Captain T. J. James, one of the lessees, read to Colonel Jones, and shows that convicts are not all as bad as painted. The letter was from a man just from a convict camp, James Martin by name. It was written in a very crude style, misspelled and without any regard for the laws of grammar or rhetoric, but it had an honest ring about it that is certainly not common among convicts. Martin was convicted of manslaughter in Burke county a little over a year ago, and sentenced to one year in the chaingang. He was received in December, last year, and escaped the May following. Fifty dollars reward was offered for his capture by Captain James, and he was caught in about a week after his escape. His time was out December 16th last, and he was discharged and went home. As soon as he arrived there he wrote a letter to Captain James expressing penitence for having escaped and for having cost Captain James $50, which was paid to his capturer. He wrote to offer to work for Captain James to repay him the $50. He had no money, but would work for Captain James until it was paid. Captain James likes the honesty of the ex-convict and he is going to help him out. He says he will get the negro a good job.

This is the first case of its kind known to the good job.

Will McMillan was released from prison at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Miss Smythe is still suffering greatly at her boarding place.
Yesterday morning McMillan was taken before Justice Landrum on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police Connolly, charging him with assault with intent to rape. The original charge of rape and robbery was withdrawn.
The only ovidence introduced was that relative to the girl's condition. The physicians who have been attending her testified that she had been terribly bruised, and that she had been given or had taken voluntarily some kind of strong opiates. They said she had been kicked, mashed and otherwise cruelly treated.

After this evidence had been heard, McMillan waived examination, and his bond was placed at $1,000, which was promptly given.
McMillan was subsequently fined $10 and cost in police court, for drunk and disorderly conduct, and $5 and cost in another case.
Lem Dean, who was one of the parties charged with complicity in the affair, was arrested and after waving examination, was released on a hond of $1,000.

daughter was wronged by Pratt about one year ago.

Pratt, who now preaches at different churches in this city, stoutly denies the aliegation, and says the accusation was precipitated by prejudices and feelings engendered by a sensational church trial. Pratt was arrested some time ago in Rome for the same offense and carried to Barnesville, where he was given trial and released. At a subsequent session of the grand jury a true bill was found against him and his arrest ordered.

Yesterday the sheriff of Pike county came to Atlants looking for the preacher and reported the effect of his mission to the police. In a few hours Pratt was under arrest. He will probably be carried back to Pike county today or tomorrow.

THE AUDITOR'S COURT.

Hearing of the Empire Lumber Company's Case Resumed.

A case involving three-quarters of a million Iollars is being adjudicated in Atlanta.

It's the case of the Empire Lumber Company, and many varied interests are connected with it.

About three weeks ago Mr. C. C. Smith, of Hawkinsville, was appointed master to hear the case, and it was begun in the state library and continued for several days, adjourning only a few days before Christmas.

The hearing was resumed yesterday morning, and Judge John L. Hopkins and other attorneys of unsecured creditors made the concluding arguments.

The master will make his report in writing to the superior court of Dodge county.

"Now men live in jail, sometimes longer than a year at a time, waiting for a hearing, but it will be no longer so. This law will be a step toward bringing about a much-needed reform."

All the lowers think the law a good one. Will Be Introduced in the Hearing of Criminal Cases

BY THE NEW LAW IN EFFECT JANUARY 5.

It Will Greatly Expedite the Hearing of Cases, and the Jails Will Be Cleared Much More Rapidly.

A new era will be inaugurated in the hear ing of criminal cases in this state, after Janu-

By it criminals will be more speedily pun ished, and the innocent will be set free without languishing for weeks in a dungeon.
It will completely revolutionize the mode of procedure in all criminal cases where bills of exception are filed, and in such cases an immediate hearing will be had.

The bill, which became a law on September 7th, last, was introduced in the house by Mr. Fleming, of Richmond, and to his able championship is due its passage.
It found strong advocates among the leading pionship is due its passage.

It found strong advocates among the leading attorneys of the state.

Judge George F. Gober and Solicitor Charles D. Hill were strong supporters of the measure, and went before the special judiciary committee of the house and made strong speeches in favor of its passage.

The bill means a great saving for the state, and, under its provisions, those wrongfully accused will get a hearing at once:

The bill is as follows:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, That all bills of exceptions in oriminal cases tried in the courts of this state, after 120 days from the passage of this act, shall as regards the practice both in the lower court and in the supreme court, relating to the time and manner of signing, filing, serving, transmitting and hearing the same, be governed in all respects, where applicable, by the laws and rules now of force in reference to bills of exceptions in cases of injunctions, and it shall be the duty of the supreme court to give a speedy hearing and determination in such criminal cases either under existing rules or under special rules to be formulated by said court for that purpose, and if the judgment of the court below is affirmed in the supreme court, the clerk of the supreme court sailt transmit promptly the remittur to the clerk of the court from which the writ of error was taken, and upon the reception of the same, the clerk shall notify the judge of said court, who shall have full power in term, or vacation, to pass any order, sentence or judgment necessary to carry into execution the judgment of the court.

Solicitor Hill's Opinion.

"That's an excellent law," said Solicitor Hill, yesterday, "and the state owes Mr. Fleming addebt of gratitude for it. It's a good law for the criminal, and good for the state. It speaks for itself and will commend itself to any one upon reading it.

"For instance," he continued, "if this law had been in effect during the time Charley Osburn was waiting for a new hearing, his case would have been greatly expedited and disposed of long before it was The same holds good in all kinds of criminal cases, and means a swift hearing of cases and a rapid clearing of our jails. It was not John Jones who was burned to death in a box car on Sunday.

The man was William Virgil, and he was identified yesterday morning by Mr. Dickerson, his last employer. Virgil had been working for him up till the past few weeks, and was promised work again this week. His home was in Quincy, and he went there and stayed till Wednesday.

The next day he climbed into a box car at Cairo and there met his death. The car was sealed at that place, and Virgil, after remaining in it for three days, evidently tried to burn his way out. His pockets were full of matches and he wore two coats, two vests and two shirts, carrying his entire wardrobe with him.

Virgil was twenty-nine years old and unmarried.

SO RECOMMENDS THE CORONER'S JURY

Over the Body of Oscar Bridges-Mean ing the Overhead Bridge at McDaniel Street.

Twelve lives. That's the record of the McDaniel street

So says the coroner's jury in the case of Oscar Bridges, the last victim of the deadly

Coroner Davis empaneled a jury to investigate the case yesterday afternoon, at the old East Tennessee passenger depot. Immediately upon the assembling of the jury, one of the jurymen moved that the room be cleared, but representatives of the road, who had a stenographer present, objected Mr. Davis was not certain about the pro priety of such an act, but as the jury was unanimously in favor of it, the roo cleared and the investigation was had with closed doors. Only one witness was admitted It was developed that Bridges was a brakeman on the road, and was standing at his post of duty on top of the train when knocked en the cars. It was his third day's work with the company, his first trip with that crew, and he had been told to look out for overhead bridges. It was in testimony that an ordinary man cannot stand erect on top of a car and pass under the bridge.

The finding of the jury was in accordance with these facts, and they further recom-mended as follows:

mended as follows:

We, the jury in the foregoing case, further recommend that since this is the tenth or twelfth man killed by this bridge, that the grand jury investigate the three bridges from Whitehall to McDaniel streets, to the end that the proper parties may be indicted and the bridges changed.

Accidents at this bridge are frequent occurrences, and the step taken toward having the matter remedied is one in the right direction. The grand jury can hardly fail to act upon the recommendation of the coroner's jury, and some good may come of it.

THE GEBW THEORY

IS THE THEORY, THAT ALL ENDEMIC, EPIDEMIC, AND CONTAGIOUS DISEASES, are produced by minute infecting germs or microbes, peculiar to each disease, which enter the system as mentioned in our Treatise, page 12, under the heading "WhAT IS BLOOD POISON?" Recent experiments show this to be a fact, and that the true way to rid the system of disease is to force out these microbes or germs through the pores of the skin, does this in the most effectual manner, by changing the char-most effectual manner, by changing the char-acter of the blood, so that the poisonous germs cannot exist in it; they are therefore forced out. S. S. not only forces out the microbes, but also the poison—both coming out through the pores of the skin; or if there should be a sore or ulcer the poison comes out through it. S. S. is entirely vegetable, is absolutely harmless, and builds up the general health, instead of depleting, as is the case with mercury and potash mixtures.

In the passionate scene with Turiddu and the equally trying one with Alfio she did not spare herself in the effort to do justice to the dramatic situation. She was given a warm welcome, and encore after encore was demanded.

What a superb tenor is Michelena! He is an old favorite in Atlanta, for season after season he was heard here with Emma Abbott. He never received such an ovation as was given him last night. His lovely voice and graceful stage presence won instantaneous applause from the audience.

ence won instantaneous applause from the audience.

As Alfio, Mr. Mertens had excellent opportunity to display his resonant baritone. His singing and acting both elicited much favorable comment. Gertrude May Stein was the principal lady support and the sustained her part admirably. She is a singer of far more than ordinary ability. The other parts were well sung and acted, and the chorus was strong and evenly belanced. The "inter-mezzo," played by the orchestra, was delicious. In it the orchestration was heard in its most florid colors; for Swedenborg says: "In heaven we shall hear hues and see harmonies." "Rustic Chivairy" was preceded by the second act of "Il Trovatore," in which Miss S'ein did some noticeably good work. She was supported by Mr. Stevens, as Manrico, and an excellent chorus.

by Mr. Stevens, as Manrico, and an excellent chorus.

The management, yielding to a number of requests, have decided to present Verdi's celebrated grand tragic opera, "il Trovatore," at the matinee today instead of "Marth.," as had been announced. The opera will be given with every attention as to detail and with a cast including Herman Karmiski, Joseph Witt, George Ganea, William Stevens, Louise Natali and Gertrude May Stein. Tonight "Faust" will be given with Miss Juch in her famous role Marguerie. The company is undoubtedly the finest that has been heard in Atlanta in years. The principals are great, the chorus excellent, the orchestra superb.

Coming Attractions.

Coming Attractions. At DeGive's, that most charming and attractive of comic opera stars. Corinne, will appear on Wednesday and Thursday, with Thursday matinee. Following her Rhea comes with her two new plays, "The Czarina" and "Catharine Howard."

This week's attraction at the Edgewood Avenue will be "Two Sisters," a play by the authors of "The Old Homestead," and produced by a company said to be good. "The Two Sisters' will be given Wednesday and Thursday, with Thursday matinee.

WHAT IS FINE WHISKY?

Canadian

The age and genuineness of this whisky are guaranteed by the excise department of the Canadian government by certificate over the capsule of every bottle. From the moment of manufacture until this certificate is affixed the whisky never leaves the custody of the excise officers. Noother government in the world provides for consumers this independent and absolute guarantee of purity and ripeness.

Scully, Will Markham.

Four hundred children and a good many of their elders were pulling candy at one time in the Sunday school room of Trinity church last night and everybody, large and small, was enjoying him-self or herself. It was a very delightful affair in every way. Miss Willie Martin, Miss Loulie Belg every way. Miss Wille Martin, Miss Loulie Belt Hemphill and Miss Loulie Austin gave excellent recitations, which were well received. Two little children from the barracks mission, Maggie Blackstock and Joe Kelsey, entertained the au-dience with speeches. These little ones surprised the Trinity Sunday school on last Sunday by their wonderful proficiency in the Bible lessons and the reambers last night prepared a surprise in return. members last night prepared a surprise in return. Superintendent W. A. Hemphill, in behalf of the day school, presented the children with very dsome Bibles. The evening will long be remembered by those present.

Mrs. M. Barwald and daughter Dora, and little son Edwin, also Miss Tillie, daughter of Mr. D. Barnard, are in North Carolina.

A pleasant party was given, co Miss Glemire May Bearden, of Madison, Ga., at the residence of Mr. L. J. Glenn, 239 South Pryor street, from 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock yesterday after-noon. The house was darkened and beautifully decorated. Those present were: Misses Glemire May Bearden, T. H. Whitner, Casper Whitner, Whitner Howard and Harvey Miller.

The Christmas festival of St. Philip's Sunday school took place last night. The entertainmen was held in the chapel and the auditorium wa crowded by a most enthusiastic crowd of Sunday school scholars and workers. The room was beautifully and elaborately decorated with ever-greens, cut flowers and mistletoe. The recitaons and music were appropriate and excellently rendered. After prayer and song Dr. Tupper delivered an appropriate address Tupper delivered an appropriate address his subject was: "The Innocence of Childhood Is the Greatest Gift of God to Man." A mixed choir from the charch and Sunday school, composed of Misses Sheridan, Snook, Smith and Knight, and Mr. Price, furnished the music.

After the programme had been carried out the rest of the evening was spent in the pleasures of a candy pulling. A large collection of gifts provided by the members of the Sunday school for the poor were placed in the hands of committees for distribution.

The following was the programme of music and recitations:

CHRISTMAS SHOOTING

Is often reckless and wide of the mark, but the boys will have their fun. However, injudicious buying of painters' supplies without regard to quality is not only reckless, but is a crime against the purse and a tax upon the eye. No painter or house builder can afford to buy paints, etc., of doubtful quality. Neither can they afford to experiment with the product of novices in the business. We handle only the products of manufacturers of old and well-established reputations, whose goods are recognized as the standard everywhere. Therefore come to us when you are wanting reliable, guaranteed goods in painters' supplies. We have window glass also in all sizes and solicit orders. 'Phone 501. > REAL ESTATE NOTES By Sam'l W. Goode & Co.

"HOW IS REAL ESTATE?" we are asked every day. We presume people ask us this because they think we know the market and the outlook. So we ask those interested in real estate to consider the following facts which make Atlanta sider the following facts which make Atlant real estate not only a safe but a paying invest

So we ask those interested in real estate to consider the following facts which make Atlanta real estate not only a safe but a paying investment:

1st. Atlanta will soon have a most abundant supply of water through her new waterworks, and this will largely increase her manufacturing industries, and, consequently, her population. Increased population means larger demands for homes and business places, and this makes an increased demand for real estate.

2d. The Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroad will soon enter the city, and this will be a great system, bringing increased business and more people, and this will be a continuing influence to build up Atlanta.

3d. The Equitable building, the Kiser law building, the McDonald building on Whitehall, the Brady-Miller mammoth stables, the new Peachtree Collier hotel, the ten-story Venable building, the new police building, the new Franklin printing building, the great Forsyth street Venable stables, the beautiful Masonic temple, the large Evening Journal building, the mammoth new building, the great Forsyth street Venable stables, the beautiful Masonic temple, the large Evening Journal building, the mammoth new building and soon to be begun, show a solidity of growth such as Atlanta never had before, and the above is but a partial list.

4th. Besides the above named great establishments, scores and hundreds, yes thousands, of moderate business houses and hones are going up now and will be completed in 1892.

5th. Go where you will in and about the city, streets and sidewalks are being graded and paved, hills leveled down and valleys filled, street car lines are being established and extended, sewers laid, and substantial, permanent improvements being made.

4th. Atlanta's education of facilities are constantly improved. New public school buildings are added every year, teachers are being studed.
